Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 06 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Some heavy showers for eastern England on Monday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers, some heavy and possibly thundery, across parts of England and Wales gradually fading, then clear spells in the north and west, but low cloud and patchy mist and fog in some southern and eastern areas of the UK.

Monday:
Low cloud clearing, except near some north-eastern coasts in Scotland, then many parts having a dry day with sunny spells, but some heavy showers developing in eastern areas of England.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mostly fine and dry on Tuesday. Clouding over from the west Wednesday and Thursday with rain in some northern and western areas, dry, bright and warm in the east.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.